The Bulgarian invasion of Greek Macedonia has reached to Demir-Hisar and from that town forces of Bulgars are said to be making their way southward toward the Aegean coast of Kavalla, northeast of Saloniki. Unofficial estimates place the number of the invaders at 25,000. Along the Struma River the Greeks have evacuated the forts of Rupel, Dragotin, Spatovo and Kanevo to the Bulgars, without offering resistance.

Coincidental with the Bulgarian invasion comes a report that the rejuvenated Serbian army—the ancient enemy of the Bulgars—has landed at Saloniki to re-enforce the British and French troops already there. This force has been variously estimated at from 20,000 to 100,000 officers and men.

While official comment is withheld, it is understood that the tone of Gen. Carranza's note demanding withdrawal of American troops from Mexico, is regarded as decidedly offensive and certain portions of it, such as the thinly-veiled accusation that the President is playing domestic politics in retaining troops in Mexico, may draw a sharp rebuke. President is determined to maintain the present troop disposition until the ability of the de facto government to police is side of the border is demonstrated.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Theodor's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of his place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble."

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Theodor's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

SATURDAY.

The British and German fleets were engaged in a long battle in the North Sea off the coast of Denmark May 31. At the bottom of the North Sea lie at least three British battle cruisers, three cruisers and eight destroyers. The British Admiralty adds to the conceded losses by Germany two dreadnoughts of the Kaiser class—vessels of 24,700 tons—destroyed, the blowing up of one battle cruiser, the damaging of two other vessels of this class and the ramming and sinking of a German submarine.

The first news of the great battle came yesterday through German sources, the British statement following soon after. No estimate of the casualties has been made, but since some of the vessels were of that type which required a complement of from 800 to 1,000 men, the loss will total thousands.

Again the Germans have tried, but ineffectually, to breach the French line near Fort Vaux. In fighting characterized by Paris as having been of unprecedented violence, the Germans threw attack after attack against the enemy line, but the French guns tore great holes in their ranks and the Germans were forced to retreat in disorder toward Dieppe.

An agreed judgment was entered in the County Court at Lexington yesterday in the back tax case of the Commonwealth against the estate of the late L. V. Further progress has been made on the Verdun front in the Vaux section, according to Berlin, and French counter attacks have been repulsed.

Revised reports concerning the great North Sea battle show that the British and the Germans each lost a total of fifteen war craft, but that the British losses were greater in tonnage. These reports cause the British public to believe that the engagement was not so near a defeat as first appeared, and that supremacy is still held by a safe margin. On one fact, whether the German's engaged the main British fleet, the reports contradict each other flatly. Berlin claiming that the enemy's grand fleet was in action and London deny-

How Machines do Our Shorthand, Our Bookkeeping, Our Adding, Our Typing, Our Talking,

No hand work can be as accurate as Machine Work. Our Shorthand Machine—the Stenotype prints shorthand in just the same letters you learned when you were six years old. No hieroglyphics—just plain A, B, C's, which anyone can read.

Have you seen it? Well you have something of interest still to see. Make your mind up to look into this little device to-day. It will pay you to do it.

Don't stand still. Don't go backwards. Remember what you said about the Adding Machine, a few years ago.

Write us about your wishes, your ambitions. You will not be the first boy or girl, by many hundreds we have helped solve the problem of "How to make a living."

Are you thinking of training for a profession or a trade? We used to say "The quickest way to success in any profession is learning Shorthand." We still say so, but by all means learn it the "Machine Way."

Our School has added Shorthand Machines just as we added, years ago, Typewriters, Adding Machines, Mimeographs, (And we have not forgotten to keep them MODERN), etc., because the Public demands new and up-to-date facilities for making the busy man's work easy.

Modern Bookkeeping is very little like what it was thirty years ago.
